Dr. Peter Havel
Director, Medical Health Services (MHS) Group
TÜV SÜD Japan

Dr. Peter Havel was born in Munich, Germany. He studied Electrical Engineering and obtained a Masters Degree in Automatic Control Engineering at the Technical University of Munich, Germany.

He started his career in 1996 as a scientist in functional brain research at the Sensori Motor Research Group of the Technical University of Munich. During this period, he developed several medical devices for neuromuscular stimulation, human motor function analysis and navigation systems for minimum invasive stereotactic brain surgery.

After completing his doctorate, he joined TÜV SÜD Product Service GmbH in 2002 and became a lead auditor and acted as a project manager, trainer and expert for Functional Safety of high risk medical devices, such as artificial heart systems, surgical robots, infusion systems and dialysis machines.

In 2005 he was appointed as Executive Support to TÜV SÜD AG Board of Management, spearheading several international board projects in Asia, USA and Europe.

In August 2006, Dr. Peter Havel became the Director of the Medical Health Service Group (MHS) of TÜV SÜD Japan Ltd. - responsible for all MHS business operations in the Japanese and Australia regions.
